Academic Computing Committee members and contacts,

Our last ACC meeting of the semester will be Tuesday Nov. 27 (the Tuesday after Thanksgiving) 10-11 am. Please note that we will be meeting in a different location, the Faculty Center, this time. Denise Cowardin has graciously agreed to present her demo of classroom polling software options at the meeting since we all missed her previous scheduled demo. That will be the main agenda item. My hope is that we will be able to make recommendations on whether campus-wide adoption of one or more classroom polling options is appropriate, and on ITS support for them.

Mitzi: I've added you to the ACC email list, as the last information I received from the Faculty Senate includes you as an ex officio representative from the Provost's Office. Please let me know if that's correct or if anyone else should be included.

Regards,
Dave
